BELIEVE AMERICA WON'T ATTEND GENOA MEETING.

King Grows That Europe Must Begin to Help Self Before Progress is Made.

BY GRANTON WILCOX.
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Europe will be made to realize that she must stand on her own legs if the United States is to participate in the economic conference at Genoa. This was expressed here today by a spokesman of one of the European delegations to the Washington conference, who said the foreign delegates are convinced that the United States government is soon to decline the invitation of the European Council to participate in the Genoa conference.

PRESIDENT IN APPEAL.

Urges China to Compromise.

San Has Conference Working and Hughes on Railroad.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The President has been urged by the Chinese delegates to the Washington conference to urge the Chinese government to compromise in the dispute over the South Manchurian Railway.

President Harding is expected to make an announcement of the administration's stand on the Genoa conference this Friday. Whether the administration will decline the invitation of the European Council to participate in the Genoa conference is still a matter of speculation.

First, reduction of their excessive military establishments which constitute the heaviest drain on national resources, prevent return to productive employment of millions of men, and in the case of France and Poland particularly precipitate speculation which prevents political stabilization.

Second, balancing of national budget, levying of adequate taxes, recognition of honest financial engagements and abandoning practice of placing mere prospects on assets side of national ledgers.

Third, stopping the issuance of government bonds.

SHAPE BONUS PROGRAM.

Mellon's Warning of More Taxes Impetus to Republicans; House Bill to Be Pressed at Once.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—A definite program for soldiers' bonus legislation began to assume shape, notwithstanding Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's warning that it will mean additional taxation. The Republican steering committee of the Senate and House held a meeting at which it was decided that the bonus bill should originate in the House and should be pressed at once.

Chairman Fordney of the House Ways and Means Committee announced that the committee probably would begin work on a bonus bill next week. He said he is delaying action until the foreign loan refunding bill, which may be passed by the Senate this week, is out of the way.

Opposition by either interest or principal of foreign loans in the payment of a bonus gave a decided impetus to the movement for the imposition of some form of a sales tax to provide the necessary funds.

Secretary Mellon's argument as contained in his letter to Representative Fordney, however, failed to prove convincing to some of the advocates of the use of proceeds from foreign loans.

Representative Fear of Wisconsin, a Republican member of the Ways and Means Committee, declared he would continue to favor the use of interest from the Allied debt or the sale of the foreign bonds. He said he would fight a sales tax and predicted that if Congress passed a bonus bill it would mean the defeat of many Republican members of Congress.

The President said, in his presence, that he would not object to the sale of the foreign bonds, said Mr. Fordney.

The American Legion, through its legislative committee, Thomas Taylor, chairman, assailed Secretary Mellon's position today.

"The American Legion," said Mr. Taylor, "is not at all impressed by the latest financial scarecrow erected by Secretary Mellon to ward off the adjusted compensation bill for veterans of the World War. The President, his Cabinet and the Republican leaders of both Houses have agreed that the claim of the veterans is just and that it must be met."

It is most unfortunate that Mr. Mellon in his efforts to defeat the adjusted compensation bill should stoop so low as to use the poor broken bodies of our disabled comrades as a tool of his design.

Twenty Arrested Five Cars Seized by Dry Officials

Swooping down upon two of the most widely known cafes at the beach and at a parking station adjacent to a third, prohibition enforcement officers late last night arrested twenty persons and seized five automobiles.

At Tumble Inn, in Ocean Park, Aubrey C. Pringle, proprietor, and four patrons were taken. At the Moonlight Gardens, in Palms, the proprietor, John Guggliemi, and five patrons were arrested, among these being Morris Orattoli of Morris Orattoli & Co., Inc., a local steamship company.

The prohibition officers then turned their attention to the parking station at the Ship cafe, Venice, where nine persons were arrested and five automobiles seized, including three physicians' cars.

Prisoners and liquor were taken to the County Jail.

The Ship cafe was not raided. The officers learned, they stated, that liquor was being sold at the parking station and, after an investigation, Abe Goldman, the proprietor, was arrested as well as all persons found with liquor in their machines.

In all the raids whisky was seized. The officers taking part in the events were John P. Doyle of San Francisco, a field agent for the State prohibition enforcement office, and Special Officers Mosher, Wheeler, O'Leary and Miller of the Los Angeles force.

'B'Gosh' Dialect, Garb of Farmer, Dry Agent Bait.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—"B'Gosh," New York's most spectacular prohibition agent, today disguised himself in David Harum garb, assumed an authentic "b'gosh" dialect, hired a creaking survey, drove into the country north of Monticello, N. Y., and returned ten hours later with three whisky stills, several hundred gallons of mash ready for distillation, and several bags of "no-mashine."

Incidentally he had served three summonses on up-State farmers calling for explanations in Federal Court.

STILL ALSO IS FOUND IN GRAVE NEAR SURF; SEEK NAVY DESERTER

VENTURA, Jan. 25.—The body of a man supposed to be Charles R. Baird of Seattle, 25 years old, who was murdered on the beach near here Saturday night, was dug up this afternoon by investigators from the District Attorney's office. An unknown man, about 30 years old and called "Shorty," said to have been a deserter from the Navy, is sought by the authorities. "Shorty" was the camp mate of Baird up to last Saturday, it is said.

The discovery of the body "followed the report by two 15-year-old boys to the police that at the dismantled camp formerly occupied by the sailor and Baird they had found two blood-covered stones and what looked like a grave.

George Gardner, a fisherman living on the beach near the pair's camp, said that on Saturday he overheard Baird and the unknown quarreling. Baird, he says, then threatened to kill his companion if he did not do as he directed him. In addition to Baird's body, which was identified by the name of a well-tailored coat which he wore, the investigators found a still buried in the sand. The murdered man's skull had been crushed, as if it had been placed on one large stone and hammered with another.

California Concern Soon to Give an All-American Wireless Service.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—An American wireless service from China to the entire Orient and the United States is virtually assured by the steadfast determination of the State Department that no amount of protests can prevent the operation and maintenance near Peking of the plant of the Federal Telegraph Company, a California corporation.

R. P. Schwerin, president of the company, has been in Washington for several weeks and with the aid of the State Department and the personal interest of Secretary Hughes has overcome the opposition of the Japanese, of Great Britain and of Denmark. Each of the nations made objection on different grounds, but all without effect.

JAPS WANT MONOPOLY.
The Japanese maintained that they had a monopoly of wireless communication in the Orient, and that the proposed plant of the Federal Telegraph Company, a California corporation, would be inimical to Japanese interests. This claim has been rejected.

CLASH ON ANTILYNCHING.

Roll Calls Show Majority of House Members Favor Bill; Early Passage Expected.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Debate in the House on the Dyer antilynching bill was concluded today and the measure was taken up under the five-minute rule, which affords members an opportunity to offer amendments. Republican leaders, announcing that the bill would be kept before the House until a final vote was reached, said they were confident it would be sent to the Senate late tomorrow or Friday.

Roll calls during debate indicated that proponents of the measure were in a majority, but it is expected that a number of drastic amendments will be offered in an attempt to alter provisions which call for heavy penalties.

The session was marked by a verbal clash between Representatives Sisson, Democrat, Mississippi, and Cooper, Republican, Wisconsin, which threw the House into confusion with several hundred negroes in the galleries joining in a demonstration that was silenced with difficulty. The flare-up occurred when Mr. Cooper declared Mr. Sisson had "openly advocated" mob rule. Mr. Sisson, during an attack on the bill, had described conditions in the South and had contended "mob violence could not be stamped out until black rascals keep their hands off the throats of white women."

Advocating Federal action as a means of checking lynching, Representative Mondell, Republican leader, declared that States had failed utterly to assert their authority. If permitted to go unchecked, he contended, lynching would break down and destroy law and order and civilization.

Representative Garrett, Tennessee, Democratic leader, appealed to members from the Pacific Coast, who, he said, were confronted with a perplexing race question to stand with opponents of the Dyer bill, resisting preferences of the Federal government in State affairs.

Whatever you people in the West decide to do in working out your problem, we of the South will understand," he said.

KEPT TWO HOME FIRES.

Scapeto's System for Two Wives at Once Explained to Judge After Arrest on Bigamy Charge.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The system of adherence to which Carmine Scapeto was able to live with two wives—one a blonde and the other a brunette—for almost three years without detection was revealed before Magistrate Renaud in Police Court today. Not until last night did either wife learn the truth, though they were chums when he met them. The first name of each wife being Marie, Scapeto ran no risk of confusing their names. But a vindictive relative upset his plan.

At the start of 1918 Scapeto and Marie Harmonde, a brunette of Italian parentage, and Marie Burbon, a blonde of Russian parentage, were employed in a Brooklyn shoe factory. On February 3 of that year Scapeto took Marie to Bogota, N. J., where he married her. Shortly after the second marriage Scapeto was drafted and went into the Army. He served about a year. During that time his first wife drew part of his pay. The second wife, not knowing she was entitled to an allowance, went back to work and supported herself.

On his discharge from the Army, Scapeto established his system. He told wife No. 1 that his parents had come from Italy and they were old and he would be compelled to spend some time

CHRIEK FOR BLUE LAWS.
The Rev. William H. Chase of Christ Church, Brooklyn, a reformer who frequently appears before Congressional committees to promote blue laws, charged that the motion-picture industry has fallen into the hands of "four or five Hebrews," who by their employment of Postmaster-General Bayne have clearly indicated their intention of entering politics and controlling elections "from Aldermen up to President." He named Marcus Loew, Adolph Zukor, William Fox, Jesse Lasky and Carl Laemmle as five men who dominate the movies. He declared the movies were "outliving the moral laws of the country."

MYERS'S CHARGE.
Senator Myers of Montana, Democrat, appearing as a witness, declared that the men who controlled the motion picture industry were "perpetuating immorality." W. H. Field, who said he represented the American Legion, also advocated strong Federal control to keep the movies in order that objectionable films might be suppressed throughout the nation. All of the witnesses wanted a thorough and comprehensive investigation of the moving-picture industry by a Congressional committee.

REBUTALS OF WAR.
The ruins of war still mar the international perspective," he said. "Willful industry is without the aid of financial credits. Countries solvent, if not rich in natural resource, are in idleness and misery. The reaction, true to prophecy, is upon us and every community is affected. The echoing cry of 'America first' is a mockery to human intelligence as unhappy experience tells us that we are a part of the world in soul, by the will of Almighty God, and in practicalities by the logic of nature's laws—Republican dream to the contrary notwithstanding."

FARMS HARD HIT.
"Farm products have diminished in price much below the labor cost of production; vast inventories of shop and mill have followed the ruin of the farm."

REV. CHASE HEARD.
After describing the tremendous influence of the movies on American life, the Rev. Chase explained to the committee the dangers of movie political influence. Four or five men, he declared, would defeat or elect candidates and fill the public offices with men who would do their bidding.

"They have engaged the Postmaster-General to be their manager this fall," he said. "Probably one of the tactics that will be assigned to him will be the defeat of this resolution. It is quite curious that they should select the chairman of the Republican party. They have selfish ends in view which threaten the freedom of government."

"How can you have freedom of expression if Congress creates a bureau to tell people what they can see on the screen?" asked Rev. Ashurst.

REJOINDER BY CHASE.
The Rev. Chase insisted that the movies were showing immoral films and contended that the public should be protected.

"Are we getting so weak and flabby mentally as a nation that we do not dare look at pictures?" Senator Ashurst retorted. "You are making the same argument made 25 years ago by the Sturtevant in the star chamber. We might get a censor, for instance, who did not like Charlie Chaplin and he could

FIRST ESSENTIAL.

"The first essential thing to our prosperity is the formal recognition by our government of the fundamental cause of depression. Since this would carry acceptance of the theories of Woodrow Wilson, there is hope only for the belated relief that will come from the pressure of public opinion.

"Every economist and statesman whose mental processes are free from ulterior thought admits that the house of civilization cannot be put in order with-put the co-operation of the nation possessing both the leading gold supply and the facilities of tremendous productivity. In the face of these fundamental truths, the administration is vainly trying to bring better times by resort to the noisy methods of a circus.

"Thousands of Republicans now realize that the present leaders of their party in the making of policy have profaned Republican history and ignored every thought of an honored inheritance by forsaking the soul of Abraham Lincoln for the spleen or steady Cabot Lodge. Abject surrender has been made to Mr. Lodge.

FACE SETTING SUN.

FACE SETTING SUN.

"With deliberate industry the administration at Washington for almost twelve months faced the setting sun—~~and~~ yet the currents of public opinion have steadily borne the destiny of America, eastward, eastward, nearer each day to the seat of the League of Nations at Geneva.

"Of the present treaty between the United States, Great Britain,

France and Japan, prudence might suggest that judgment be reserved until we know what the treaty means and the extent of Mr. Lodge's secret understandings. The President gave interpretation of the written word: Mr. Lodge instantly corrected him with the statement that the real meaning was in the unwritten word—in the understandings between the representatives. Just when nations seemed committed to open diplomacy, Mr. Lodge, in the name of America, resorted to the diplomatic methods of old.

This treaty sets up a new enterprise that may lead to otherlike projects. The League of Nations assembles all nations deserving of name. "Our faith in the official pronouncements of 1920 is unaffected by the result of the election of that year. We stand in our very tracks, just where we were when the voters were counted. We have not retreated a step. The flag still flies and we are ready for the next fight."

Washington State College players against California last night has heartened the fans here considerably, and, although a majority of the Purple and Gold play-are being backed to make a strong showing against California when the two teams meet for the first game of the series Friday night.

Snappy competition is promised in the semifinals of the boxing and wrestling championships of the Pacific Fleet Saturday afternoon, as only star athletes survived the elimination rounds held on the U.S.S. Tennessee yesterday. The wrestling section of the program created the most excitement among the 2000 officers and men who crowded around the arena, several spectacular falls occurring during the proceedings.

Bourne, a heavyweight, representing the U.S.S. Tennessee, spilled Sailer Carlos of the U.S.S.
New Mexico, quite unexpectedly.
Carlos was considered the probable winner of the first title, and Bourne was given only an outside chance. However, although Bourne was more or less of a novice, his weight and strength told, and he flopped Carlos in seven minutes.
Fox of the California and VII laneauva of the Pennsylvania furnished the snappiest boxing contest of the day. Fox winning on a decision after six rounds of hard fighting. They are bantam-

Rush to Bat for Tor-Twisters.

Glenn Warner, master football coach and genius of the gridiron, will positively continue to coach the University of Pittsburgh for two more seasons. Beyond that he cannot speak further of the Stanford situation at this time.

Also, the former Carlisle and Cornell football mentor firmly be- lieves in the innocence of "Lone- star" Dietz in the Purdue charges. Dietz formerly was a protégé of Warner's at Carlisle, and later served him as assistant coach. "I believe that Dietz now and for some time has been the vic- tim of persecution," declared Warner. "And I expect him to be cleared of these charges."

WANTS INVESTIGATION.

"Here," he continued, handing me a yellow slip, "is a telegram which I received from Dietz an hour ago." It read:

"A gross injustice has been done me. I have demanded complete investigation of the charges, which will be forthcoming."

What interested me most, how- ever, in my half hour's conversa- tion with this widely known figure of the gridiron, was Warner's an- swer to my request for an all-in- dian football team for all time. That's what you would call an all- American all-American team.

AN ALL-AMERICAN.

Warner, as most football fol- lowers recall, turned out Indian teams at Carlisle which were the sensation of the country in 1899, 1903, 1907, 1911, 1912 and 1913. Warner, being a name to conjure with in football, and synonymous with success on the gridiron, would be accepted with a large degree of finality in making any all-Ameri- can selection. But being an ex- pert on Indian athletes, and in fact the only man qualified to make a selection, his all-Indian team is of rather extraordinary in- terest and value.

Mentally reviewing the power- ful Carlisle teams of the past, Warner with considerable thought but little hesitation picked the fol- lowing eleven:

HERE THEY ARE.

Ends—Eliason and Rogers.

Tackles—Waukena and Hawley.

Guards—Whelock and Bemis.

Pierce.

Center—Littleboy.

Quarter—Jimmy Johnson.

Halfbacks—Guyon and Thorpe.

Fullback—Metonen.

Oh, boy, Littleboy, big boy, or any other kind of a boy, how would you like to see that flock of aborigines in action?

When an Indian is a football star, he is some star, as those who have seen the Redskins in action well know.

Warner is inclined to think that this eleven would beat any of the annual all-American teams.

SHOULDN'T WONDER.

"I feel quite certain it would de- feat the best university eleven, and being picked from the best men

MILLER COTTON MILLS, WACO, TEXAS

$350,000.00

Ten-Year 8% Sinking Fund First Mortgage Gold Bonds

Dated December 1, 1921

Due December 1, 1931

INTEREST PAYABLE JANUARY 15 AND JULY 15, BEGINNING JANUARY 15, 1922

Denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100. The company obligates itself to retire, through operation of a sinking fund, by purchase in the open market, or call at 105 and accrued interest, 10 per cent of the bonds each year.

ROBERT B. DUPREE, Vice-President Central National Bank, Waco, Texas, Trustee.

The Miller Cotton Mills, Waco, Texas, convert Texas cotton into staple fabrics, such as denims, pin checks and ticking. These finished cotton goods are sold in all parts of the United States and Mexico.

At the present time demand for the company's products is several times greater than capacity, although the mill is operating two shifts day and night.

This is due to excellence of the products and to natural advantages as regards manufacturing and marketing.

Waco, Texas, where the Miller Cotton Mills are located, is virtually in the center of the greatest cotton producing area on earth.

This enables the company to buy long staple cotton direct, eliminating the several handling and brokerage charges that Northern and Eastern mills are obliged to pay.

Cotton, grown in Texas, shipped to Northern and Eastern mills, converted into manufactured cotton goods and shipped back to the Southwest and to other sections, bears a double freight charge, compared to cotton converted in the Miller Cotton Mills and shipped to these same markets.

These two natural advantages enable the Miller Cotton Mills to compete in all markets.

The market immediately adjacent to the Miller Cotton Mills and the market in Central and South America requires many hundred times the capacity of these mills.

According to Theo. H. Price, acknowledged an authority on cotton, Texas alone spends $60,000,000 each year for having the cotton it produces and consumes converted into manufactured cotton goods by mills outside the State.

The cotton mills in Texas manufacture only 1 per cent of the cotton goods the State consumes.

The proceeds of this bond issue will enable the Miller Cotton Mills to increase the output 60%, thereby increasing profits approximately 100%.

The company, starting operations a little over a year ago, has made a remarkable record during a period when conditions were extremely unfavorable for any business.

The financial condition of the Miller Cotton Mills, shown in condensed form below, is after applying the proceeds of this bond issue to the audited statement, prepared by Messrs. Marwick, Mitchell & Co. as of November 12, 1921.

ASSETS		LIABILITIES
Cash on hand and in banks	$ 189,753.29	Capital stock issued	$1,000,000.00
Accounts receivable	241,423.58	Notes and accounts payable	NONE
Merchandise and raw material inventories	70,749.23	Net profit	76,951.67
Supplies, prepaid items, etc.	14,869.61	First mortgage bonds	350,000.00
Real estate, buildings, machinery, mill village, etc.	910,155.96
	$1,426,951.67		$1,426,951.67

Net profits from November 12, 1921, to December 31, 1921, $28,001.53.

The company's net profits are approximately three times the amount required to pay the interest on the bonds and provide a sinking fund. With increased capacity profits should be increased.

The bonds are a first mortgage on all the company's real property and fixed assets, and is the only bonded indebtedness of the company.

The form of mortgage and bonds has been approved by Armstrong, Keith & Kern, 40 Wall Street, New York, and Thompson Knight, Baker & Harris, Dallas, Texas.

1111 INDEPENDENCE BUILDING
LOS ANGELES

Business; Financial; Markets; Investment.
DAILY TRADE TALK.

How Ten Years and a Vision, Plus Confidence, Built a Great Business.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

Los Angeles contains many examples of business building little less startling than the remarkable growth and development of the city itself during the past decade, but it is doubtful if any of these presents such a many-sided symposium of sturdy construction upon rock-bedded foundations as is offered by the Sam Seelig Company.

Last evening, in a downtown cafe, more than 300 employees of the Seelig organization were entertained by the management at an attractive function, to which added importance was given by the distribution of a profit-sharing bonus, the second within a year, and totaling for the period $10,000.

This is not a fixed bonus payment, or an understood emolument, but when the books are balanced and the profits determined the men whose energy and loyalty made possible the success are recognized as real working partners and participate in the distribution.

The Seelig business fairly demonstrates the romance of trade. It has a history of achievement which does not readily translate itself into statistical terms, but this achievement has synchronized with the encroachment of the city upon the nation's white spot.

Ten years ago Sam Seelig started a little corner grocery at Pico and Figueroa streets. He did his own buying, part of it on the markets as early as 4 o'clock in the morning. At first the business was not large enough to warrant paying an assistant outside of the family.

It wasn't a particularly inviting outlook. There wasn't much money in the grocery business, anyway, competition was keen, and the little store was just one of thousands of corner trade spots, in a growing city.

AND AFTER TEN YEARS.

However, there must have been a difference somewhere, because, stepping over an intervening period of only ten years, we come again to last night's banquet hall filled with well-dressed, alert men called together to participate in a distribution of thousands of dollars, earned from profits around 1 per cent and almost never exceeding 1 1/2 per cent, which means, of course, a frequent turnover and a tremendous volume.

These men were the managers and the employees of seventy-one Seelig stores. Two additional stores will be added on Saturday, one in 28 Pasadena, the other at Avenue 56 and Pasadena avenue. That makes seventy-three. Leases have been negotiated and arrangements perfected for seven additional stores, practically all of which will be in operation within a few months. The 1932 schedule calls for an average of a store a week.

In 1921 new property to the value of $2,500,000 was created and the future account alone exceeded $100,000. In the past four months thirty-seven new stores have been opened in Los Angeles city property and fourteen suburban stores added to the rapidly growing list.

"What is the limit?" I asked General Manager A. I. Stewart yesterday. "There isn't any," he replied, "except such limit as is imposed by efficient conduct."

Stewart, by the way, is the nerve center of the system; a system which will tell any one entitled to know, the situation at any hour of the day, the exact condition of any of the stores, reveal with automatic precision the weak spot, if one exists, and set a danger signal against a commodity which is out of line with the market. This system in itself is a mighty interesting study, but can only be touched upon here.

Mr. Stewart knows every one of the store managers. He knows what they can do, and more pertinently what they are doing. Through his desk passes a greater mass of detail than a dozen ordinary executives are called upon to handle. He selects locations and authorizes leases, and inasmuch as these are usually for a long term of years he can't afford to be wrong very often.

DISCOUNTING THE FUTURE.

Future growth must be balanced against present conditions. The best side of the street, the volume of travel past the location, contact with automobile and street-car traffic, general surroundings, and a thousand and one considerations must enter into deals of this kind.

The Seelig Company does not go in for real estate. In fact, aside from its warehouses on Palmetto street the company owns no real estate, but it is directly responsible for many buildings. After a site for a new store has been tentatively decided upon the owner of the property, which is often vacant, is approached with a leasing proposition involving a new building or a complete remodeling. Ordinarily Stewart is about two jumps ahead of the market so the deal is closed and in a few weeks another Seelig sign appears in a location which speedily develops into a strategic center. Everybody can see it then, and the "I told you so," boys have their inning.

Naturally when a Seelig store enters a new community, or more particularly a suburban town there is a great deal to do on the part of the merchants already in business there, but Mr. Stewart told me that his records show that where a competing store is brought up to a chain-store standard as to cleanliness and the making of offices the business is actually stimulated. In some places Seelig stores have been opened within short range of each other, actually competing stores under the same management, and in every instance the business of each store has grown.

The method of merchandising developed by Sam Seelig; the personal equation which he has injected into his affairs; the intricate and marvelous buying system he has built up; the manner in which his stores are operated, and the thoroughness of his supervisory methods with which he surrounds his own establishments are another story and perhaps have no place in a review of this character.

GOOD OF THE ORDER.

It is not that Trade Talk holds a brief for Sam Seelig or anyone else, but Sam Seelig has accomplished a remarkable business achievement in a very short time. He has been one of those who has made Los Angeles a part of the white spot and it's not such a far cry back to the days of the store space at Pico and Figueroa where he hung his shingle in April, 1912.

I submit that any man with vision enough to capitalize the future in the way he has done; who came through a great war period with his feet cool and close adjustment; who has established in that time seventy-three modern, beautifully equipped, light, sanitary food dispensaries without a failure; who has developed property and indeed whole communities running into many millions of dollars; who is almost at the top of chain-store systems of his class in the United States; who turned up his nose at the business terrors of 1921 and made the blue devil like it by starting thirty-seven new stores; when such a man, running a ten-year-old business of that magnitude shares his profits and gives away $100,000 in a year to a comparatively small group of fellow builders at a dinner which fairly seethed in good will and determination to go on to unlimited fields still untapped; when all these things happen, and more, then I content, a concern like that is an asset to any community, and is entitled to a piece in the paper.

IN BANKRUPTCY COURT.

Charles H. Redman, a clerk of the district court in bankruptcy in the U. S. District Court, Southern District of California, and his assets as $1700. W. H. Moore, Jr., named petitioner in receiver of Elmer J. Pennington Co., doing business at 550 Hollywood Boulevard, on the petition of the Los Angeles Business Company. The bond was fixed at $5000.

GRAIN MARKET.

Grain prices were steady yesterday. Barley averaged between $1.20 and $1.25 a bushel, weight, and sold ranged from $1.15 to $1.45. NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The professional character of recent dealings in the stock market became more clearly defined today by the bewildering fluctuations of speculative issues and the neglect of rails and other similar shares.

Gulf States steel, the recent leader, was striking example of these conditions, rising 2 1/2 points, reaching 10 1/2 and closing at 7 1/2, a net loss of 6 points.

Davidson Chemical, the most active feature of the session, made an extreme advance of 7 1/2 points, forfeiting a considerable part of its gain in the final dealings.

Similar tendencies were shown by various other industrial, sugar and a wide range on miscellaneous issues, the market closing with an irregular tone. Sales, 700,000 shares.

The money market was another uncertain factor, call loans opening at 5 per cent, easing gradually to 4 during the intermediate period and rallying to 4 1/2 in the last half-hour. Changes in money rates were restricted to demand loans.

Liberty bonds continued to ease under pressure and French municipal bonds made further reactions. In the main, standard domestic and international issues were relatively steady. Total sales, par value, aggregated $14,371,000.

They are the type held by savings

Three Are Dead, Three Ill from Botuline Poison.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]
WEISER (Idaho) Jan. 25.—
Three are dead, one more die, and two are ill, from botuline poisoning as the result of eating home-canned greens at a birthday dinner last Sunday at the home of Charles W. Tuttle, Cambridge, forty miles north of here. Tuttle's family was virtually exterminated by the poison.

The dead: Hazel Tuttle, 35 years old; Andrew Tuttle, 30 and Bryan
Tuttle, 26, World War veteran.

Critically ill: Charles W. Tuttle,
60, carpenter, father of the boys and girls.

Slightly ill: Beadie Clare and Edward Russell, guests at the Tuttle dinner.

Cambridge physicians believe that Miss Clare and Russell ate so small a quantity of the greens that the poison did not secure a firm hold upon them, according to Edward Ulley, Chief of Police at Weiser.

MEXICO TRAIN SERVICE AGAIN.

Line to be Opened South as Far as Tepic.

Proposed Branch Will Reach Mexico City.

Government Helps Road in Its Construction.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

TUCSON (Ariz.) Jan. 25.—On February 2 the Southern Pacific of Mexico will resume passenger train service down the Mexican west coast as far as Tepic. The first train will leave Nogales at 6:30 p.m. February 2, arriving at Mazatlan on the fourth at 11:30 a.m.

Mazatlan will be left the following day at 7 a.m., and Tepic will be reached in the evening at 10 p.m. Returning, the train will leave Tepic on the morning of the 7th and reach Mazatlan at 11:30 p.m.

It is proposed to build this road and to repair all wrecked branches by funds received from the Mexican government in reparation for damages done to the Southern Pacific line during the revolution. The bill for this is $3,500,000 pesos, or just about the sum of $1,600,000, needed for the improvements and extension.

FIGHTS FOR PAY. A. A. Worley, a local attorney, was called to assist the County Attorney of Cochise county in the prosecution of individuals charged at Tombstone with participation in the recent El Paso deportation. He demanded $1500 for his services as special counsel. The Cochise county supervisors refused payment, alleging that he had never hired him.

The Superior Court adjudged him entitled to pay. The supervisors appointed him an assistant county attorney and awarded him $75 for the time devoted to the case. The Superior Court then decided against Worley when he demanded the full $1500.

Now he has taken his contention to the State Supreme Court.

JURY HAS HARD JOB. (EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Jan. 25.—A hard experience was that of five Prescott jurors, summoned as coroner's jury to determine the manner of death of John Brooks, colored watchman of the Money Metal mine, about three miles from Walker.

The journey out from Walker was on foot, through two feet of snow. It was agreed that Brooks, who was epileptic, had appreciated that a fit was seizing him, this while he was on the trail from Walker. He had hung a bag of provisions on a tree limb and had rolled sixty feet to where his frozen body was found in a gulch. He had been unable to climb back up the slope.

The jurors dragged and carried the body back over the trail to Walker and returned exhausted, wet and chilled.

NAME RECEIVER. (EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

TUCSON (Ariz.) Jan. 25.—C. A. Smith has been appointed receiver for the Arizona Ice Cream and Candy Company, which is alleged to have indebtedness of $28,000. The principal creditors include A. Reinfield, Tucson Creamery Company, W. A. Smith, and John S. Sabra, with about seventy others.

COLONEL TRANSFERRED. (EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Jan. 25.—Col. A. P. Anderson, First Cavalry, who has been in command of Camp Barry J. Jones for several months past, has been transferred to Fort Riley, Kan. He has been succeeded here in command by Lieut.-Col. J. E. Gauje.

NATIONAL RAILROAD CONFERENCE PLANNED

The Commercial Board of Los Angeles yesterday received an invitation to send a delegate to Washington next February 8 and 9 to attend a meeting called by the National Council of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. The gathering will discuss transportation problems of the country. An effort will be made to reach a workable program which will permit the nation's railroads to operate under private control and pay dividends. Those urging the meeting seek means of averting any tinkering in Congress with the Transportation Act under which the railway systems are being operated. Fourteen hundred commercial, financial and industrial organizations are expected to participate in the deliberations.

PLEAS TO "ADOPT" FAMILIES SENT OUT.

(BY A. P. MONT WIRE.)

CHARLESTON (W. Va.) Jan. 25.—Appeals to business men of this city to "adopt" families suffering in mining and other districts where unemployment is prevalent, by contributing $2.00 a week for the next nine weeks, were sent out today by clubs, churches and other bodies working in conjunction with the Red Cross chapters here.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Jan. 25.—A late decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission lowered 4 cents per 100 pounds the freight rate on Portland cement from the producing points of Colton, Oro Grande and Victorville, Cal.

PERFECT TEETH

BEAUTY'S FIRST REQUISITE

An Attractive Appearance Impossible Without Clean, Well-Cared-For Teeth and Firm, Healthy Gums.

Appearances do count. If you expect to "get along in the world" you must face this fact and make use of it. The condition of your teeth can make or mar your appearance. Your success and happiness depend upon your appearance.

Bleeding gums are Nature's signal to beware of Pyorrhea, the white plague of the mouth. Take no chances. Visit your dentist at once. Start using Pro-Rem Dental Cream and Pro-Rem (liquid) mouth wash. Pyorrhea wrecks health, homes—happiness. No one can afford to gamble with a diseased mouth.

Pro-Rem Dental Cream is an efficient preventative and at the same time a delightful dentifrice. At your drugist's—the large tube—is only 25 cents. Pro-Rem (liquid) is 50 cents the bottle. Pro-Rem Chemical Co., 801 West 9th Street, Los Angeles. (Advertisement)

EXPANSION CAMPAIGN TO BEGIN NEXT WEEK.
Officials of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce are planning to launch next week a campaign of expansion and reorganization with a view to making the harbor business getters' association more efficient. A drive for new members will be a feature of the campaign and plans will be laid for advertising the industrial and residential advantages of Wilmington, described by Chamber of Commerce officials as "the pivotal point of ocean commerce."
At a banquet held the other night, at which the forthcoming campaign was announced, Gordon Whitnall, of the Los Angeles City Planning Commission, was the principal speaker. He predicted enormous industrial strides for Wilmington and its sister communities in the Los Angeles Harbor district.

PINK CORSET LANDS MAN IN TROUBLE.
Jack Dalton Arrested at Harbor After Chase on Shoplifting Charge.
A woman's pink corset led to the downfall of Jack Dalton, alias Peter Prisch, alias John Larson, alias three or four other names, described by the police as a convicted burglar, a long record of arrests, prison terms and escapes. Dalton was arrested at Fifth and Beacon streets, San Pedro, by Patrolman A. L. Gentry, after a chase which followed complaint of officials of a department store that Dalton had been shoplifting. When searched by the policeman a pink corset and five yards of cloth were found on his person, police say. The merchandise was later identified as the property of the department store.

PROMOTER'S INDICTMENT IS PUZZLE.
Just Why Name of Marks Came into Grand Jury List Remains Unexplained.
How B. W. Marks, realty operator and promoter, happened to be indicted by the last grand jury, after which eleven members of that body signed a statement saying that they did not believe Marks should have been indicted, was a question that remains unanswered yesterday. While certain members of the jury asserted that Mr. Marks' name was "slipped in" an indictment, it was vigorously denied by Chief Deputy Dist. Atty. Doran. It was stated that the grand jury did not call to hear the testimony of Mr. Marks, though Deputy Dist. Atty. Stafford insisted that he had promised that Mr. Marks should be given a hearing. The attorney's office that certain members of the grand jury informed that office that they had heard enough on the case and were ready to return an indictment against all concerned.

THE BIG THREE.
Bryan, Gov. Cox and Joe Tumulty are getting together to discuss the future of the Democratic party. The grouping of the conferees sounds like a war to begin with. They haven't much in common save the right to wear neckties. If this trio is to program the future of the Democratic party Democracy will be wearing brass knuckles.

PROFESSORS OF LIBERTY.
An Irish race congress is being held in Paris and it is promised that political societies shall work in every land for the greater freedom of Ireland. Why not let Ireland try the brand of freedom she is now to receive and give the rest of the world a little rest as well? Being a professional Irishman seems to be quite an industry in certain circles.

SIDEWALKS OF NEW YORK.
The pedestrian has finally been recognized. A new concrete sidewalk is to be built to cover the distance of seventeen miles between Albany and Schenectady. It will be exclusively for "citizens on foot." The fact is, however, that so many pedestrians were being bowled over by the autos that the motorists themselves suggested the sidewalk in self-defense. Their mudguards were becoming clogged with pedestrians.

THE SPANKED BRIDE.
A New York judge is annulling the marriage of an under-aged bride stipulated that she should be spanked by her parents. The jurist said that the custom of young girls marrying at first sight and lying about their ages in order to obtain licenses must cease. It would be splendid if this Solomon had larger jurisdiction, but there are a lot of flappers rushing into unconsidered matrimony who are beyond the pale of his court. There is no chance of spanking them all.

HOUSING THE PEOPLE.
Prominent financiers and philanthropists of New York are backing a $100,000,000 housing program for the big city. They are to build or create apartments for 45,000 families and these will be rented to all tenants at the average rental of $8 a month for each room. The big city is said to be short nearly 100,000 homes and this program would ease the situation. The reduced rentals would be especially attractive to people who are now paying $75 a month for quarters that once went for $20. It is the poorer and middle classes that suffer most in the housing shortage.

CLADES OF RUSSIA.
There is intimation that soviet Russia will offset the debts, claims and obligations to other peoples by making claims of her own. She will wish to hold that the Allies are responsible for all her troubles; that they dragged her into war and precipitated the whole train of events that resulted in the present hardships and past revolutions. To offset the millions owed by Russia to other nations there will be demand for billions to recompense her for all her physical and political hardships. The Allies may be expected to not only pay for Lenin and Trotsky, but to endure them. This is advanced book-keeping for the Russian mind.

PICTURES AND POLITICS.
Senator Shortridge is in charge of a special subcommittee of the Senate that is charged with the ponderous problem of the political activities of the movies. Is it true that the pictures are going into politics, and how far? Is the capture of Will Hays by the films to be considered as a menace to the republic? What can the pictures do to politics anyhow? These are some of the questions that disturb some of our statesmen and they want an official quiz to determine whether the country can still be saved. It is very fit that a Californian should have charge of the inquiry. By writing a postal card to Hollywood it may be possible to find out about this nefarious plot—if any exists. We want to save the government and at the same time preserve the movies. The Senate committee may be able to shape matters to that end.

RECOMPENSE OF LOST LOVE.
An Illinois court has decided that when a girl goes back on her sweetheart and recalls her promise of marriage the engagement ring must be returned to the blighted lover. He is entitled to that much recompense for his ruined life. In the case in point the young man had given the girl a $400 sparkler when she promised to wed. Afterward she changed her mind and decided to marry somebody else, but she persisted in clinging to the diamond token. Now the court has taken it away from her. As a general proposition the world does not think highly of a girl who breaks her engagement, but perhaps in keeping the ring with which she was sealed. On the other hand it does not particularly cherish the young man who uses the girl for the return of the ring he gave her. It is horse and horse. It is interesting to know, however, that the judgment of the jury is that when a girl breaks an engagement as her own act the ring should always be returned to the man who gave it. The ring is like the signature on a note. When it is cancelled it belongs to the man who made it. Whether the kisses should also be returned is another matter.

THE CALL OF OUR DESTINY.
There was once an old man who had lived his life by the side of a hill, digging his potatoes and his turnips. When they asked him what was on the other side, he said he didn't know; he had never gone up the hill to find out.

We of Los Angeles might as well confess it: that is more or less the case with ourselves. In the past we have been too much concerned with our own little potato patch.

Our world has been bounded by Wilson's Peak and San Pedro. Until now, this has been well enough. Planting a good potato patch is a good job, requiring close attention.

But a great change has come over the world. It is doubtful if Europe will ever completely recover from the shattering disasters of the World War. She is short and exhausted. In the sense of world importance, her day is done. She rests in the dead gardens of a glorious past.

The center of imperial sway has inevitably shifted to the strong young America. And New York will not be the seat of the new world activities. New York's strength and importance came from its position as the gateway to Europe. It was only strong as Europe was strong.

The markets of the world and the center of the world's interest are now moving to the Pacific—to those new-old, naive-sophisticated countries beyond the western seas.

And the gateway of this new activity is Los Angeles. Some day we will inevitably become the strategic center of the Anglo-Saxon world.

We are the point of contact. We are the sentinels at the portal of the white man's world.

At a recent dinner in Washington, Balfour called solemn attention to this fact: the wise and experienced British diplomats have been the first and keenest to see it.

He said frankly that the power and activity of the world had now passed from Europe. Some one else must take up the torch of world leadership. His opinion was prophetically expressed. It would be the Pacific Coast of America, he said, to which the white man's world must look.

"And," he asked with solemn import, "are you developing the leaders to meet this responsibility?"

If our answer were to be equally frank it would be "No." We have not even realized the responsibility.

Whether or not the fact is pleasing to us, Mr. Balfour has spoken with terrible truth.

It is no longer with us a matter of, perhaps, a rather smug pride in our streets, our climate, our growth—our potato patch. We have a new responsibility as wide as the world.

Staggering as it may seem, Los Angeles has every probability of becoming one day the most important factor in the white man's world. That is our destiny.

Cincinnatus may have vastly preferred to stay home and plow; but he had to answer the call of his destiny.

We must stop banking in our pleasant potato patch and consider our position in the world. We must climb to the top of the hill and take a look around.

We have too long considered ourselves an isolated city apart from other cities. Our duty lies upon us. We must enlarge our vision; take up the torch and prepare ourselves for the solemn responsibility of taking an important position in world leadership.

It was so written by the crash of the guns that destroyed Europe. And we cannot answer No.

A POET DOWN TO EARTH.

Rabindranath Tagore, the only Asiatic who ever won the Nobel prize for literature, has passed in his work as a poet long enough to become the crusader for a new attitude on the part of his countrymen toward material things. In sharp contrast to Gandhi, Tagore is preaching not the severance of all relations with the white races, but rather diligent effort to ward acquiring their mastery over affairs through knowledge of science.

It is no new thing for a Tagore to have an influence in India. The present Rabindranath Tagore has for several years had an immense following in his own land as well as in the Occident. His father and his grandfather were men of tremendous influence, largely of a spiritual character.

This is also not the first time that the poet has thought of the mechanical factors of the modern world. Before he became the best-known living Indian, he was a brakeman on a British railroad out of Calcutta.

While the descendant of one of India's greatest religious leaders was bumping back and forth over his run, taking orders from men far below him in mental ability, he thought out many things less poetical than his rose-tinted love lines. He observed that the white man had the upper hand, not because of spiritual or even mental superiority, but because he concentrated upon the utilization of physical forces. He saw many able philosophers and countless men of much wisdom who were eager to get almost any kind of a job at the hands of a section foreman or the boss of a construction crew.

But his first literary productions had in them nothing of the grind of train wheels or the shriek of factory whistles. His eyes had been opened to the real trouble with India, but when he wrote it was of a land of romance, of lotus blossoms and of elusive love.

To the turbulent Occident, which had begun to weary of its own lurid love literature, his delicate prose-poetry, languid and almost other-worldly, made a powerful appeal.

But the poet, for all the adulation of the West, was still more a leader of his people than a man of letters. His inherited sense of responsibility as a teacher compelled him to dominate him. Finally he began the task of working out for India his message to her and his advice as to how she should meet new world conditions.

His plan, as given out recently in Calcutta, can be summed up in these words: India can only come into her own when Indians keep pace with the advanced nations in scientific knowledge and its application to the problems of life. India, he says, is the slave of material things and material-worshipping men because she has scorned the material and followed solely after that which is spiritual.

What he has to say comes as the fruit of his observations and thoughts in India, but of seven months of close study of conditions in this country and England.

Thus it is that the direct descendant of one of India's greatest mystics is the champion of materialism. He is still the poet, to be sure, so much so that even as he writes of factories and power problems his sentences possess a lyrical quality rarely found in treatises on economics. He is still the fervent Buddhist, with frequent references to his basic belief that "God envelopes all things." Nevertheless, he has strolled lulling the West with love lyrics and has sounded a trumpet call for the East to awake and face the facts of the modern world. A poet has come down to earth, has dug his toes into the dirt and is apparently about to perform his finest service for his people.

A PIONEER PASSES.
Los Angeles will not seem the same without Dr. Walter Lindley, who died on Tuesday of a cerebral hemorrhage.

He was one of the men who linked the little old Mexican pueblo that was Los Angeles to the modern metropolis. And he has left his mark on every stage of the city's development. He was more than an old resident. Los Angeles is something more than a mere arrangement of streets and buildings. There is a spiritual, living entity that is Los Angeles and Dr. Lindley had done much to mould this living spirit.

It is a curious fact that should have suggested prophetically the great future of this community: some of the most brilliant minds who have adorned this place came with the early pioneers. Even in its little village days, Los Angeles had lawyers and physicians and other professional men who became nationally famous by sheer power of intellect and character. Dr. Lindley was such a one.

He came here in 1875, a young man just out of medical college, and practiced his profession here until his retirement a few years ago.

As an author and a physician, he became known all over the country. With every success he became only a kinder and gentler soul. His heart was as great as the heart of the world. His was the greatest of all charities; for he gave of himself. Dr. Lindley lived in the midst of life.

Cultured, highly educated, with the right to print numerous degrees and honors after his name, he never lost what Kipling called "the common touch." He played with politics with the same joyousness that he collected rare books. His philosophy held that everything in life was good and he tasted it all, and followed Robert Louis Stevenson's admonition to "rejoice because that shall be necessary," but was not embittered.

Whether for high links at a club anniversary, a difficult medical diagnosis, or sympathy for the afflicted, Dr. Lindley was always in demand and was never failing.

He was a brilliant intellect, a devoted and loyal friend and a heart that overflowed with kindness and merriment. Wherever his soul has gone—that is a good place to go.

REPORTERS AND OFFICIALS.
A brand new city official began his official career the other day by saying "act" to the newspaper reporters who are assigned to his department. He told them he was a busy man and didn't want them around.

Although the incident contributed a little to the general hilarity of official life, it does not promise a great deal in the way of an intelligent administration. It is like a voice harking from the Dark Ages.

The right of the reporter to access to the city official has come, by common sense, to be inherent as the right of trial by jury or of legislative representation. The reporter may be a slinky boy, but he is the unofficial representative of the force that puts officials in office—and takes them out again. The reporter represents the public in a way that no elected or appointed official ever can or will. For he is the only permanence that exists in American public life. Public officials come and public officials go; but the reporter is there to say both "Hello" and "Farewell." That he has no official standing, makes his tenure the firmer and his influence the greater.

The public has the right to know the conduct of any public office and the meek and lowly reporter is their authorized agent, sent to find out.

Of late years, official Washington has come to recognize this status of the press. Even the President has regular meetings with the newspaper men in Washington. All the Cabinet officers meet the reporters at regular intervals—usually twice a day; and this engagement takes precedence over all other official business.

Our new official means well, no doubt, but he is wandering around in the mists of the archaic past.

THE REFORMER.
Can government be reorganized? Walter Brown, the Toledo expert who was appointed by the President to formulate plans for the readjustment of the various departments of the government along practical business lines, has prepared a tentative program. All he will need to complete his plans is the consent and cooperation of the President, the Cabinet and Congress. That should be about as easy as it is to make an angel out of blue mud. In the first place the expert proposes to do away with the War and Navy departments—rather to consolidate them into a division of national defense. He would also create a Department of Public Welfare, in which the present Department of Labor would be merely a bureau. He would move a lot of the bureau around until nobody but the janitor could recognize the furniture. He would give prohibition and the secret service exclusively to the Department of Justice. The Secretary of the Treasury should be just that and not much more. He should be the arbiter and watchdog of the nation's finances and not have to do with light-house and levees. Some of this reorganization sounds very sensible, but as it presumes to take the status quo and break it up into junk the program has hard sailing ahead of it.

Congress and the Cabinet are not to be trifled with. Men who have had jobs for a generation are not to be pried from them without indignant protest. Organized labor will fiercely fight any suggestion to reduce the standing of labor from a department to a bureau. There is good fighting all along the line. OK-hand we would say that any man who plans to reorganize the government must be a practical or a practical man. He must be a man who knows how to do it for a worm to have a fight with a steam roller.

JOKE ON CORNELL.
The realization that a great hoax has been perpetrated has put the Cornell student body in a mood for vengeance. The much-talked-of Herman Voeberg, supposedly a student of Freud, who lectured here on the interpretation of dreams, has been disclosed to be none other than a senior in the college of architecture.

"Dr. Voeberg" was widely advertised as having just arrived from Vienna in order to keep his lecture engagement at Cornell. His audience was composed almost entirely of university students and professors, and yet not one even suspected the quaint theories and putty nose of the speaker. In fact, faculty and students alike put questions and eagerly drank in the answers.

The solution of dreams and the subconscious workings of the mind were all resolved to a calculus by the versatile "Dr. Voeberg." He illustrated his theories by telling of an incident where drops of water were placed upon a sleeper's eyelids. The subject immediately simulated rowing, and upon awakening told of dreaming that he had been stranded in midocean.—[Boston Transcript.]

REVOLT OF MAN.

BY EUGENE BROWN.

The day may come when scheming politicians will be doing the Julian Klitting stuff in order to get to the inner workings of some of the political parties the ladies are forming "for women only."

For a matter of thirteen or fourteen centuries women were battling for full and free recognition. They insisted upon an absolute equality of rights and opportunity with men. They demanded the right to shave and wear armor. The wife stipulated that her legal standing must be the same as that of the husband. She wanted to vote, to hold office, to sit on a jury and smoke a pipe. She wanted man's pay, man's job and man's pajamas.

Finally they gave her all she asked. In some States they gave her more than she demanded. She almost got what she deserved.

But in some sections she is still unsatisfied. After gaining complete recognition as man's equal she is now claiming further recognition as a woman.

She was given the right to vote as a man. Now she wishes to vote as a woman.

She organizes political parties for women only and then asks that the men join in giving her political recognition and preferment because she is a woman.

This doesn't seem particularly consistent to the male mind. But cheer up. Come to think about it, a woman doesn't have to be consistent. It is not expected of her.

If she wears a short skirt and hides her ears she can do anything or be anything she pleases.

This brings us to where we are going. We have the woman who wants office—not because she is competent and capable, but because she has a sex tribute.

Mothers' movements are led by flat-boomed old maidens who haven't kissed a baby in forty years. There are women who think that because there are now practically as many lady voters as there are men, they should at once half the office—because they are women.

Because—

It is the woman's reason. If this spirit of sex-consciousness continues to enlarge there may be a reaction. The men themselves will be forced into the adoption of kinder methods. They will call it protecting themselves from the ravages of the skirts. They will be organizing lodges of He-Amans for the purpose of making the world safe for married men.

Some of the handsome Chesters of the stage and Apollo of the screen will be appealing for official and political renouveau because of their masculine splendor.

Even the pink gentlemen who do embroidery and play croquet will be insisting on their rights as men. They will be demanding protection from the methods of the strong-armed women who harry them from day to day.

When a dame who has taken away a man's job and has been given his trousers, his vote and his vest, turns aside to demand a Senatorship because she is a woman she is starting something that she may not be able to happily finish.

When lovely woman has man at bay she best beware. Man may have a nasty bite.

The women can do their most efficient work and gain the best results by training with the men rather than dividing from them.

That is at least the judgment of one of the men.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

THE BOOTLEGGERS.

On furtive feet along the street in darkness they are going; from stew and slum they bring the rum that keeps the boneyard growing. They make their rye of poisoned life, of rough on rats their brandy, and he who drinks is wise, methinks, to keep a coffin handy. They fill their vats with old dead cats when they would make sour mash; and one small drink will put a zink in line for dust and ashes. They make their gin of rusted tin and upas leaves and grants, and he who sips curls up and skips from their own well-known plan. They make their booze from canned shoes brought in by vampires ghostly, and he who quaffs finds epiphany the goods he's needing mostly. Ah, when you swig a bumper big of bootleg rye or bourbon, your works will split, you'll throw a fit no doc can put a curb on. You'll bite the chairs and fall downstairs and start a rough house gaudy, and when you're through the crownier true will sit upon your body. Few, few escape the bootleg mixture, and with a speck man's beds are made where headstones are a fixture. The bootleg knives are peddling graves, they're selling bottled laughter; oh, then, with me drink bonnet tea, and pop, and milk, and water!

WALT MASON.

Latest in New York.

The latest fad of the up-to-date New York debutante is to carry with her on her dolly stroll along Fifth Avenue a wax doll that goes to sleep and squeaks "Mama."—[New York World.]

THE PREDICAMENT OF THE MINORITY.

BY EVA G. TAYLOR.

One of the well-known motion picture exhibitors recently admitted with refreshing candor that the appeal in the cinema art must be made to the majority of patrons—i. e., to the uncultured masses!

Any way, it is gratifying to know just to what extent the segregation carries the unfortunate minority—and what they may expect in the way of entertainment in the future. It has long been suspected that the intelligent and cultured minority were not getting their share of attention either in the form of entertainment or mental stimulation. Now and then a ray of hope for them has flickered up—they have been caught by a promising title, only to find it a hollow and misleading subterfuge.

They have borne their manifold disappointments with heroic resignation, always looking forward to that happy future when their needs should be recognized by the producers and exhibitors. Being what they are they could not quite comprehend the claims of materialism. They always felt that higher standards in the cinema art as in other lines of creation or production would at last prevail—that some time the golden age would arrive.

Faithful hope! The verdict has been rendered. As the demand for the majority is to be met, no further argument is needed to convince us that the minority are in about the same predicament as the "submerged tenth." They are not to be considered. Policy would suggest that they hang a memorial wreath on the shrine of their higher ideals of life and art—and walk quietly with the procession. They might as well accept with ungrudging cheer the cheap melodrama, the vulgar vaudeville, the tiresome and commonplace films, for gentlemen producers and exhibitors "must live!" They might be forced to go to bankruptcy they depended upon the high-brow portions of the community for patronage!

According to one theory of the situation, the humanity of the movie is just what it has come in a long course of evolution. Another viewpoint makes it a direct creation endowed or deprived, developed or stunted for a wise and beneficent purpose. The former class believes that all reforms must come from within, that no so much a matter of education as of evolution—that in time they will acquire the faculties they lack at present. Also that any forced development will be as disastrous as the premature forcing of a plant seedling to the artificial opening of a chrysalis.

The latter class believes in compulsory goodness—in "saving" the "lost" soul at all cost. Whichever view one takes of the matter, it is evident that human beings go on pretty much as it chooses. The gaps between the high intelligences and the masses are as wide and deep as ever after all these years of philosophical, between the perfected and finely-organized body temples and the misshapen and distorted products of disease and sin there is as wide a gulf as at the beginning. The demarcations are as pronounced as ever between the highly-developed moral and religious sense and the undeveloped. After all these ages of speculation and experience the disparities are as marked and the contrasts as sharp. Progress has failed to bridge the gap. The most approved methods of physical culture, the most advanced systems of ethics and psychology have failed to put the lower class in the place of the higher or materially improve its standards.

Soul-qualities have always been at a discount in the business and commercial markets of the world. Strictly speaking, the cinema art is but a mart of trade. We should therefore expect it to be governed by the rules of trade. The portion of the human race possessing true wisdom and culture, which stand on the side of the higher, is in the minority. If the standards of the age are low it is because the majority rule. The few who love true art and good literature, uplifting plays and inspiring music, are really no worse off in this age than in any other. Their only refuge from the mediocre entertainment offered them is to go into seclusion. They might revert to cave life, or pitch their tents amid the sage brush of the desert or even seek the mountain solitudes for their hermitage. This alternative, however, would afford them no solution to the problem they are seeking to solve. For part of the responsibility that goes with high intelligence lies in the solution of intricate problems concerned with human life—at least a perpetual attempt at some solution.

Their status carries with it weighty obligations toward their fellow beings. They know that running away from uncomfortable and distressing situations is a foolish and useless alternative. The masses would continue to demand the yellow and bizarre—the producers would continue to supply the demand without missing from their ranks the offended idealists. Nothing would be gained by the segregation and something might be lost.

Sympathetic Anyway.

Two Seattle men were talking on a street car.

"Seattle has the rottenest set of bankers of any city in the world," said one. "There isn't one of them who knows he is alive. If these bankers would go to dig for sewers and let the sewer diggers run the banks our financial matters would be in more competent hands, but we would all die of typhoid fever or something before the sewers were done."

"I couldn't borrow any money, either," said the other man mildly.—[Seattle Times.]

PEN PONS.

Why doesn't Tom Jones go to jail? The conditions of the cinema art must be made to the majority of patrons—i. e., to the uncultured masses!

Any way, it is gratifying to know just to what extent the segregation carries the unfortunate minority—and what they may expect in the way of entertainment in the future. It has long been suspected that the intelligent and cultured minority were not getting their share of attention either in the form of entertainment or mental stimulation. Now and then a ray of hope for them has flickered up—they have been caught by a promising title, only to find it a hollow and misleading subterfuge.

They have borne their manifold disappointments with heroic resignation, always looking forward to that happy future when their needs should be recognized by the producers and exhibitors. Being what they are they could not quite comprehend the claims of materialism. They always felt that higher standards in the cinema art as in other lines of creation or production would at last prevail—that some time the golden age would arrive.

Faithful hope! The verdict has been rendered. As the demand for the majority is to be met, no further argument is needed to convince us that the minority are in about the same predicament as the "submerged tenth." They are not to be considered. Policy would suggest that they hang a memorial wreath on the shrine of their higher ideals of life and art—and walk quietly with the procession. They might as well accept with ungrudging cheer the cheap melodrama, the vulgar vaudeville, the tiresome and commonplace films, for gentlemen producers and exhibitors "must live!" They might be forced to go to bankruptcy they depended upon the high-brow portions of the community for patronage!

According to one theory of the situation, the humanity of the movie is just what it has come in a long course of evolution. Another viewpoint makes it a direct creation endowed or deprived, developed or stunted for a wise and beneficent purpose. The former class believes that all reforms must come from within, that no so much a matter of education as of evolution—that in time they will acquire the faculties they lack at present. Also that any forced development will be as disastrous as the premature forcing of a plant seedling to the artificial opening of a chrysalis.

The latter class believes in compulsory goodness—in "saving" the "lost" soul at all cost. Whichever view one takes of the matter, it is evident that human beings go on pretty much as it chooses. The gaps between the high intelligences and the masses are as wide and deep as ever after all these years of philosophical, between the perfected and finely-organized body temples and the misshapen and distorted products of disease and sin there is as wide a gulf as at the beginning. The demarcations are as pronounced as ever between the highly-developed moral and religious sense and the undeveloped. After all these ages of speculation and experience the disparities are as marked and the contrasts as sharp. Progress has failed to bridge the gap. The most approved methods of physical culture, the most advanced systems of ethics and psychology have failed to put the lower class in the place of the higher or materially improve its standards.

Soul-qualities have always been at a discount in the business and commercial markets of the world. Strictly speaking, the cinema art is but a mart of trade. THE FLOWERS OF THE FLOOD.

Last night in the city of Seattle, a dream of the future was dreamed. And it was a dream of the future.

And it was a dream of the future. And it was a dream of the future. And it was a dream of the future.

And it was a dream of the future. And it was a dream of the future. And it was a dream of the future.

And it was a dream of the future. And it was a dream of the future. And it was a dream of the future.

SAYS GRAVE OF VETERAN DESECRATED

Woman Reports Soldier Buried in Potters Field at Los Angeles Harbor.

An unidentified soldier who died at the Crocker-street Hospital from tuberculosis contracted after he had been gassed in France is buried in the Potters field at Los Angeles Harbor and his unmarked grave is desecrated by the wheels of wagons which frequently pass over it, according to reports made to officials of Harbor Post, No. 65, American Legion, by Mrs. Minnie Bunting, wife of a soldier stationed at Fort MacArthur.

Officials of the Legion Post are investigating the report and it is verified they will demand that the body be disinterred, given a fitting funeral and buried in a military cemetery and that the officials responsible for the burial in the Potters field be called to account.

According to the information supplied by Mrs. Bunting, the unidentified tuberculosis victim died sixteen months ago and his body was taken to its grave by an undertaker, with the understanding that it was later to be removed to the Soldiers Home Cemetery. Mrs. Bunting says that a squad from the harbor coast defense fortifications did fire three volleys over the grave as a mark of respect, but that the remains received no other military attention.

Officials of the Legion Post at the harbor were attempting last night to find the keeper of the Potters field and authorities at the Crocker-street Hospital in an effort to identify the soldier.

POLITICAL PURITY UPLIFT IS PLANNED.

WESTERN NEW YORK SOCIAL CLUB WOULD CLEANSE LOS ANGELES.

President, Ernest Snider; vice-president, Harry Wals; secretary, E. P. Miller; treasurer, Edward N. Miller; and publicity man, Frank Oppenheimer.

FREEZE CLAIMS MUCH OF CROP.

New Estimate Increases Loss in Oranges.

Only Twenty-five Thousand Cars to Ship.

More Lemons to be Marketed Than Ordinarily.

Based on an inspection of different sections of virtually all citrus districts, following the recent frosts, E. G. Desell, assistant general manager of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, yesterday issued the following official statement regarding probable loss to the fruit men:

"After a survey of different sections of practically all citrus districts in California by members of our field department, consulting with shippers and growers and comparing temperatures with 1918 and the results of the temperatures in the various districts on the shipments that year, we have reached a preliminary estimate of the loss of fruit by the cold weather the nights of January 19, 20 and 21, as ranging from 40 to 50 per cent of oranges and 50 per cent of lemons. This would indicate shipments for the season of about 31,000 carloads of oranges and grapefruit and 1600 cars of lemons, compared with a total of 55,000 carloads last season. It was estimated that this season's total crop would be approximately the same as last year, after considering the cold damage to lemons."

The lemon crop is expected to be a larger percentage of the total lemon acreage was protected by orchard heating than the orange crop. A considerably increased lemon crop was estimated for this season, so that based on this estimate, California will ship a greater quantity of lemons between January 1 and November 1 than in any other year except last year.

"An accurate estimate of the orange crop at this time is extremely difficult because of the varying conditions in different localities and re-estimates will be made as the situation develops."

FORCED HER TO PRAY.

Ex-Precursor and Y.M.C.A. Man Charged With Crimes.

Mrs. Laura B. Husted obtained a divorce yesterday in Santa Barbara from Clarence B. Husted, former clergyman and Y.M.C.A. worker who is now reported to be in the brokerage business here. Mrs. Husted charged desertion and cruelty. She testified that one of her husband's customs was to order her out of bed in the middle of the night to pray. She said that he finally went East to engage in Y.M.C.A. work and left her in debt. Later, she declared, she obtained sufficient money to pay her debts but Mr. Husted wrote her promising to return if she would send him this money. She says she did so but he never came back.

DRY AGENTS TO GET AID OF FRENCH.

Editor Assures Federal Attorney Violators of Law Will be Ostracized.

Indicating that representative foreign-born citizens of Los Angeles are preparing to start a campaign to aid enforcement of the national prohibition amendment, Amory Mars, editor of Le Courrier Francaise, French paper of this city, called yesterday at the office of Asst. U. S. Dist. Atty. Camarillo to get the facts in the case against Andrew Castagne and E. J. French subjects. They are held under a bond of $100 each for violation of the Volstead law. Their preliminary hearing is set for next Wednesday before U. S. Commissioner Long.

COLONY TO ACT.

The accused men belong to the French colony, and if the evidence warrants such action, their names will be written on the list of the members of that colony, Mr. Mars stated.

Mr. Mars said he thought much of the violation of the prohibition law among the foreign residents arose from ignorance, rather than a desire to break the face of constituted authority. So far as the local French colony is concerned, he said, there would be no daily dealing with persistent violators, and they will be denied the companionship of their fellow Frenchmen who desire to maintain good order and a respect for the laws of the country duly and legally enacted.

During the afternoon, other French citizens called on Mr. Camarillo, and repeated the sentiments of Mr. Mars—that a rigid investigation would be had of every Frenchman charged with violation of the liquor law, and if the evidence warranted it the accused will be made to feel the reproach of his own people.

It is the belief that the action of well-known French citizens looking a better way of keeping the liquor laws will result in other aliens taking similar action. The records show that 80 per cent of the violators of the Volstead law are either alien or American citizens of foreign birth. In a number of instances arrests have been made of men who have been in the United States only a few months.

EDUCATION DEMANDED.

University President Speaks at Club Luncheon.

"One of the beneficial results of the World War, said President Von Kienitz of the University of Southern California, speaking at the noon luncheon yesterday at the City Club, "was to arouse in the American people a demand for education. Our colleges and universities, which formerly sought students, are now raising their admission requirements, and adopting other methods of keeping students out of the colleges. The equipment and facilities of the universities are overtaxed to meet the demands made upon them. The schools, colleges and universities must take the World War, and showed that they trained men to take a useful and necessary part in the work of the nation."

"We are mad about education now, but we should see to it that the chief business of our schools and colleges, which is to turn out good men as well as useful men and women is not lost sight of in this wave of materialism which was one of the effects of the war."

F. C. ROBERTS LAID TO REST.

Impressive Ceremonies for Long Beach Editor.

Thousands Attend Funeral Services.

Fraternal and Civic Bodies Well Represented.

LONG BEACH, Jan. 25.—In the big auditorium of the First Methodist Church this afternoon, impressive funeral services for Frank C. Roberts, former editor of the Long Beach Daily Telegram, and prominent Republican, were held. The floral tributes, arranged about the bier, all but hid the casket. Creating a solid bank of color in the front of the church the floral offerings were placed around and under the pulpit and choir loft. The services opened at 2 o'clock, with thousands of Long Beach and hundreds of out-of-town residents in attendance.

Present in the great congregation of mourners were formal representatives from lodges and civic bodies of the city to which the departed editor had belonged, or which he had served. Among these were the Elks Lodge, Palms Verde Blue Lodge of Masonry, the Royal Arch Chapter of the Shrine Club, the municipal administration, and the Chamber of Commerce. Among the out-of-town delegations were members of the Republican county central committee, and twenty-five members of the Southern California Editorial Association, headed by its president, J. E. King. The remains lay in state with guards of honor alternating between Elks and Masons, from noon until 1:45 p.m., when the casket was closed. Services at the church and the cemetery were conducted by Dr. L. T. Gault, pastor of the First Methodist Church, of which Mr. Roberts was a member. Music was by the church quartet, with Miss Laurels Chase as organist.

Charles H. Windham, E. J. Wightman, W. M. Cook, Charles L. Hartwell, George F. Hirsch and George E. Earley, were the active pallbearers. The honorary pallbearers were Henry P. Balbour, Horace Green, J. A. Rominger, James P. Daly, Roland Swafford, Louis White, Edward Gillette, Charles Peterson, Fenner Webb, Edward Lawrence, Charles R. Drake, Charles Henderson, Louis Ballard, W. F. Frick, H. C. Stuart, E. E. Buffum, B. F. Tucker, Ralph Clock, Joseph Fallowa, John Craig, Dr. A. Donnell, J. H. Gault, Denio, C. J. ### REGISTRATION VERY HEAVY AT SAN DIEGO.

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 25.—Registration of voters since January 1 has passed the 14,000 mark and broken all records for January registration. County Clerk J. B. McLean announced today. The total possible registration is in excess of 22,000.

A comparatively large number of persons, McLean said, decline to designate political preference. Complaints of the city of San Diego and suburban communities against continuation of present telephone toll rates by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company will be heard by State District Commissioner Irving Martin, who is coming here from Los Angeles for that purpose.

Although the complaints against the existing tolls have been filed by outside communities, the burden of prosecuting the case will rest on residents of San Diego and W. C. Earle, consulting engineer in that office. They will be assisted by the legal representatives of near-by towns.

FORMAL OPENING OF CROWN CITY HOTEL.

PASADENA, Jan. 25.—The formal opening ball at the Hotel Crown City last night brought out a brilliant throng of eastern visitors and Southern society folk. The dinner preceding the ball was attended by more than 600 persons. Many elaborate dinner parties were given by members of the winter colony as well as by Pasadena and Los Angeles residents. Many beautiful gowns were observed.

During the evening a gorgeous entertainment spectacle was presented, being a fashion show, by models from cinema studios. Smart Los Angeles shops had vied with each other in providing raiment for these manikins. The Green is one of the hotels of the California Hotel Company. Robert Reid is the manager. He is planning a brilliant social season for the winter and spring. The hotel opened last night for the season.

Consolidation of City, County District Urged.

EL CENTRO, Jan. 25.—Consolidation of city, county and irrigation district offices into a unified body, as near as practical, to be housed in a proposed county building, a joint Courthouse and City Hall, is the plan advanced today by the El Centro Realty Board for the consideration of the Imperial Valley.

This was the chief result of an enthusiastic meeting last night of the board at the Chamber of Commerce offices. The board, ambitious as a body for both city and county progress and improvement, took up the matter of the proposed consolidation, and convinced of its merits from the standpoint of economy as well as other advantages, decided unanimously to appoint a committee to inaugurate a campaign for ultimate realization of the program. H. W. Brewer and J. F. Cameron, members of the board, were named as the committee to advance the idea.

At present there is a patrol service which takes care of twelve different properties, but the need of a more efficient patrol system in the country, with every man a dead shot.

It is declared that within Montecito Valley is easily portable personal property, such as jewelry, valued at millions of dollars, that might easily be stolen. There are no extraordinary means of guarding estates and roads. As criminals operate on a larger scale, it is said, prompted the move to organize a patrol to cover most of the valley. Letters inviting property owners to a meeting to discuss ways and means have been sent out signed by William R. Myer, William H. Davis, James R. Richard and William Norman Campbell.

DYNAMITE UPON YOUTHS FEARED.

High Explosives Stolen May Cause Trouble.

Pasadena Officer Pushing Search Nervously.

English Automobile Club's Secretary Arrives.

PASADENA, Jan. 25.—Like floating mines at sea during the war days, certain unidentified small boys of Pasadena are cruising the lanes of the city with their pockets filled with dynamite, a potential menace to all traffic. Such is the fear of Special Officer Earl R. Smith, attendance guardian of the public school district, who is endeavoring to learn the identity of the boys, locate them and, with much caution, dynamite them.

The explosives were stolen, presumably by boys, from the city powder magazine, a quarter of a mile below the Devil's Gate Dam, where the city stores its explosives. Missing from the stores are four dozen sticks of dynamite and 200 dynamite caps.

Smith found one of the dynamite sticks. Evidently it had been thrown against a stone wall but, because it was damp, did not explode.

He has trailed a number of the caps, which have been exploded on railroad tracks and elsewhere. The caps themselves possess high explosive power. He judges one of them to be capable of blowing off a man's head.

Smith is fearful the identity of the thieves will be learned only by an explosion, which would be likely enough to kill innocent bystanders as well as the misguided youngsters.

PICTURES LATIN'S FUTURE BRIGHT.

Gov. Ybarra Optimistic on Lower California.

Says Territory Could Not be Purchased.

Mexico Now Law Abiding, Says Retiring Official.

MEXICALI, Jan. 25.—A bright picture of Mexico at peace—prosperous, contented, happy—with these conditions applying particularly to the Northern District of Lower California where cultivation of acreage has been trebled in the past twelve months and where new enterprises are constantly increasing—such was the optimistic view drawn today by Gov. Epigmenio Ybarra, retiring executive of the Northern District of Lower California in an exclusive interview granted The Times correspondent in the executive chambers in Mexicali on the eve of the Governor's departure from office.

Lic. Jose Clemente Lugo, subsecretary of the Department of the Interior in Mexico City, whose appointment to succeed Gov. Ybarra was announced recently by President Obregon, is expected soon in Mexicali to assume his post.

Meanwhile, Gov. Ybarra left today for Ensenada, where he will remain five or six days visiting his father before leaving for the Mexican capital. He was called there by the President to fill a higher governmental post, it is reported.

In spite of dull rumblings of reported revolution not only in the interior of Mexico but in Lower California too, Gov. Ybarra is positive Mexico is at peace.

"Mexico," said the Governor, "is orderly, law abiding, peaceful now. I know of no trouble in any section of the republic. I know of no revolution even being fomented on Mexican territory."

The Governor told of developments in Lower California. Acreage in cultivation has trebled in a year, he said. New business enterprises are constantly opening up in Mexicali and Ensenada, he advised. The great coast road from Tijuana to Ensenada is proving a boon to that territory, he declared.

"Would Mexico ever consent to sell Lower California to the United States?" he was asked.

The Governor colored a bit. He was just a trifle vexed.

"Never," he asserted. "Never. The idea is preposterous—just as if the Mexican people would want to buy California or Florida. It is against the Mexican constitution. But we welcome colonization down here, we need it for our future development."

Club Told of Need for Volunteers.

Veterans in Dire Want Says Chapter Head.

Hundred Twenty Cases Reported This Month.

BY MIRA NYE.

BY DEMAND on the local chapter of the Red Cross is heavy. In any other twelve chapters in the country," said D. C. Macdonald, head of the chapter before the Ebell Club luncheon yesterday, when he presented the latest information concerning the work.

For this month, until this date," he said, "there have been 127 cases of ex-servicemen in dire want. Last month there were 490, in November 278, in October 366 which demonstrates the alarming growth of the problem. It is plain to see that our duty is plain and we are doing it." The speaker appealed to the club to respond to the call for volunteers working to relieve the dire want of the veterans in the Coulter Building.

Macdonald will be made chairman of the Red Cross chapter and there must be a regular volunteer service. The chapter has sent 1000 veterans to the vocational training, family allowances all over the country and later at Fort Rucker, where they are being trained for the war. ## THE NEW.

NOVELTIES, IDEAS AND PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

By Olive Gray.

They Are Wearing:
Skirts and capes to match for sports; the capes lined with material like that of the blouses. The latter are attached to the low-hanging skirt, which seems to suspend by so slight a hold as to be about falling off. "Oh, how charming!" one girl cries. Another scoffs that they "look slouchy," these new, languid skirts.

Crochet with unabated vigor. Not only by way of sweaters does crochet hold its own, but it appears in blossoming profusion on hats for both sport and street wear and has made for itself a place on wraps in the form of loosely fashioned roses, creating the popular ruche attached to flowing capes of knitted fabric.

Frings on separate skirts, sometimes cut or raveled from the skirt material; sometimes an elongation of the wool stitchery that is the hand-trimmed of the garment.

Sealing Red.
One sees red wherever the eyes may rest, in blouses, gowns for day and evening wear, in accessories and in wraps. The prevalent reds, however, are the reds in the olden acceptance of that color, but they come in such modifications as to defy description and to tempt the name-caller fabricating Tomatos to a general favorite, but tomatoes, as we all know, come in varying tints ranging from beef-steak to almost cerise. Patrika is a welcome wintry shade, while "lip" such as a local "monk," self-explanatory, is the variant of red often in fact or name, the color is softened to gain our liking—or is it that the choice of a mode is always likable?

None Versus Too.
However scorch the weather girls will wear their lower extremities out of doors, it seems. Noses may be muffled in snug collars of cloth or fur, but from the knees down not hosiery and satin sandals must have their way. When the being the new "tude," to look to shiver, but as grandmother used to say, "Vanity will always keep one warm."

Sailing In.
The sailor hat of the forthcoming season is far from the plain, tailored affair heretofore known. Of colored straw, either fine or coarse, the new sailors are likely to own broad bands of bright ribbon, upon which are pasted flat roses or other flowers. There is no denying that the lining of the brim. Sometimes this lining is of velvet, again it is of crepe in one of the popular weaves. There is no denying that the touch of color lends unwelcome charm to this somewhat prim hat and a new vogue is being likely to welcome the organdy collar revival.

Flawless White.
The predicted craze for expansive collars and cuffs of organdy is a fly in the amber of the woman who recoils at the thought of keeping these accessories clean and crisp. None the less does she recall, also, the fact that white next to the face and neck are more becoming than is the cloth of wrap or dress, and therefore she will be likely to welcome the organdy collar revival.

Separate Sleeves.
Sleeves scarcely seem related to the garment which they adopt unless, forthwith, by means of a flower or motif similar in color. The sleeves of sleeves—if one could call their flowing raggedness by the name of "shape," are such as to require yards of material, and since this is as a rule far different in weave and color from the remainder of the dress, it requires a touch of imagination to unite the two. Crepes, in any of the popular weaves, and of late chiffons are chosen for these arm accessories, and frequently an all-over embroidery still further enhances and at the same time divorces the sleeve from the garment. Brilliant color effects in sleeves serve as marked contrast to the gown or wrap and are so unique as to be pronounced bizarre.

Stationary Mode.
The newest fad in envelopes is that of flower effects against the colored lining; metallic brocades are the usual background for such flowers, which are sometimes printed and sometimes hand painted in water colors. The flowers are chosen either in harmony or in contrast to the plain colored lining. Of course one uses sealing wax to match the tint of the envelope lining.

Fashion's Finger Pointing.
A dancing frock of silver tinsel and silver fillet is an exponent of the hoop skirt.

Some gowns for southern wear feature slightly higher necks and longer sleeves.

Favorite collars are in high, rolled styles, which are worn either open or closed.

There is noted a one-sided movement among dresses. Many are wrapped effect.

Tiny sea shells form a novel trimming when used in girdles or in combination with bead work.

Crepe and crepe satins are used extensively, and black continues to be the predominant note.

A pattern outlined in white wraps beads and white chenille.

Very little embroidery is seen on skirts, the favorite trimming being incrustated bands in self-fabric.

Some delightful frocks of Georgette crepe are trimmed only with drawwork and self-flowers.

Crochet with unabated vigor. Not only by way of sweaters does crochet hold its own, but it appears in blossoming profusion on hats for both sport and street wear and has made for itself a place on wraps in the form of loosely fashioned roses, creating the popular ruche attached to flowing capes of knitted fabric.

Frings on separate skirts, sometimes cut or raveled from the skirt material; sometimes an elongation of the wool stitchery that is the hand-trimmed of the garment.

Sealing Red. One sees red wherever the eyes may rest, in blouses, gowns for day and evening wear, in accessories and in wraps. The prevalent reds, however, are the reds in the olden acceptance of that color, but they come in such modifications as to defy description and to tempt the name-caller fabricating Tomatos to a general favorite, but tomatoes, as we all know, come in varying tints ranging from beef-steak to almost cerise. Patrika is a welcome wintry shade, while "lip" such as a local "monk," self-explanatory, is the variant of red often in fact or name, the color is softened to gain our liking—or is it that the choice of a mode is always likable?

None Versus Too. However scorch the weather girls will wear their lower extremities out of doors, it seems. Noses may be muffled in snug collars of cloth or fur, but from the knees down not hosiery and satin sandals must have their way. When the being the new "tude," to look to shiver, but as grandmother used to say, "Vanity will always keep one warm."

Sailing In. The sailor hat of the forthcoming season is far from the plain, tailored affair heretofore known. Of colored straw, either fine or coarse, the new sailors are likely to own broad bands of bright ribbon, upon which are pasted flat roses or other flowers. There is no denying that the lining of the brim. Sometimes this lining is of velvet, again it is of crepe in one of the popular weaves. There is no denying that the touch of color lends unwelcome charm to this somewhat prim hat and a new vogue is being likely to welcome the organdy collar revival.

Flawless White. The predicted craze for expansive collars and cuffs of organdy is a fly in the amber of the woman who recoils at the thought of keeping these accessories clean and crisp. None the less does she recall, also, the fact that white next to the face and neck are more becoming than is the cloth of wrap or dress, and therefore she will be likely to welcome the organdy collar revival.

Separate Sleeves. Sleeves scarcely seem related to the garment which they adopt unless, forthwith, by means of a flower or motif similar in color. The sleeves of sleeves—if one could call their flowing raggedness by the name of "shape," are such as to require yards of material, and since this is as a rule far different in weave and color from the remainder of the dress, it requires a touch of imagination to unite the two. Crepes, in any of the popular weaves, and of late chiffons are chosen for these arm accessories, and frequently an all-over embroidery still further enhances and at the same time divorces the sleeve from the garment. Brilliant color effects in sleeves serve as marked contrast to the gown or wrap and are so unique as to be pronounced bizarre.

Stationary Mode. The newest fad in envelopes is that of flower effects against the colored lining; metallic brocades are the usual background for such flowers, which are sometimes printed and sometimes hand painted in water colors. The flowers are chosen either in harmony or in contrast to the plain colored lining. Of course one uses sealing wax to match the tint of the envelope lining.

Fashion's Finger Pointing. A dancing frock of silver tinsel and silver fillet is an exponent of the hoop skirt.

Some gowns for southern wear feature slightly higher necks and longer sleeves.

Favorite collars are in high, rolled styles, which are worn either open or closed.

There is noted a one-sided movement among dresses. Many are wrapped effect.

Tiny sea shells form a novel trimming when used in girdles or in combination with bead work.

Crepe and crepe satins are used extensively, and black continues to be the predominant note.

A pattern outlined in white wraps beads and white chenille.

Very little embroidery is seen on skirts, the favorite trimming being incrustated bands in self-fabric.

Some delightful frocks of Georgette crepe are trimmed only with drawwork and self-flowers.

Many smart frocks show a two-

SHIP COMBINE PLAN OUTLINED

Thirty-Million Corporation Urged for Pacific.

Committee to Confer With Board at Capital.

Fredericks Sees Opportunity to Center Trade Here.

The Pacific Coast shipping project, whereby Los Angeles will be one of the cities to house a corporation taking over government-owned vessels to carry the American flag to all parts of the world, was strongly recommended yesterday by President John D. Fredericks of the Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon at the Alexandria.

Mr. Fredericks outlined the plan and reported the results of the conference held in San Francisco last week, where he had been in conference with the government during the war at a tremendous cost, he told the members, and as these are run, the government is determined to get out of the shipping business and operate a business.

"The scheme," explained Mr. Fredericks, "is to establish large shipping corporations on the Pacific, Atlantic and Gulf coasts, and give to these private interests concessions in the transportation of mail and troops to balance the operation scales against the government's act, which is higher under our flag than under any other."

COMBINE DISCUSSED. "A conference was called in San Francisco at the behest of the Shipping Board to have a concern take over all vessels allocated to the Pacific ports. Delegates were present at the conference from Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle and Astoria."

"Plans were laid whereby ships would be taken over by a company to be formed and operated purely as a commercial undertaking. This matter will be discussed more fully tomorrow before the board of directors. A committee has been appointed to go to Washington to look into what arrangements and inducements can be made for the enterprise. It is hoped that a hard, fast agreement will be reached on this return the committee in San Francisco."

According to Mr. Fredericks, if agreeable terms can be made to take over the government ships the corporation will be formed and stock will be sold, allocating so much stock to each port.

OPPORTUNITY FOR CITY. "If the stock were all sold in Los Angeles," he pointed out, "the ships would sail out of any port that furnished business and this city would be the seat of a world enterprise eventually. The corporation would be managed by a board of directors and subject to the majority opinion of the stockholders."

"If the details of this plan prove agreeable to the shipping men of Los Angeles," he continued, "they will get in line for the commercial value does not appeal to them, they'll stay out. My first judgment was unfavorable to the scheme. Since I have been apprised of the details and seen the possibilities I have become heartily in favor of it."

Mr. Fredericks learned yesterday of his appointment as one of a committee of ten from Pacific ports who will confer next February with the Chamber of Commerce and the Shipping Board at Washington.

The shipping company now under discussion would be created through a pooling of capital estimated at $30,000,000. Two hundred members of the Chamber of Commerce present at the luncheon were urged to co-operate in keeping the American flag on the seas and making Los Angeles the future shipping metropolis of the world.

DEEP WATER PORT NEED, IS OPINION.

Los Angeles Sets World's Oil Export Record, As-sets San Francisco Man.

"Los Angeles Harbor's Development as a world port awaits more deep water."

C. H. Robertson, assistant superintendent of the marine department of the Standard Oil Company of California, thus summed up his idea of the needs of the local port and the purpose of his visit here yesterday. He was accompanied to the harbor from San Francisco by J. H. Kronin, chief engineer of the company.

A new idea of the importance of the harbor was given by Mr. Robertson when he declared that during November, 1921, a total of 1,121,000 barrels of fuel oil were shipped from the Los Angeles Harbor terminal of the Standard Oil Company, while in December 1,121,000 barrels of fuel oil were the company's local wharves. Both shipments are world records for oil export, Mr. Robertson said.

"Life Anages Harbor has a great future as a seaport. There can be no doubt about that," said Mr. Robertson, "but the pace of her development will be determined by the speed in which the facilities are provided for handling the trade which is coming in ever-increasing volume."

"I am here on a deep-water mission. The port authorities are doing their best to remedy the lack of deeper channels but there are several things that our company would like to see straightened out. Although we are handling almost 2000 barrels of oil per month at our local wharves, there is not more than thirty feet of water under the bows of our tankers when tied up at the dock."

The Standard Oil Company added to the harbor's facilities with the arrival from San Francisco of the S. S. No. 1, which will be stationed permanently at the local port and used for handling of cargo, or while loading or unloading at the various wharves. This will prove a big factor in the saving of time for the vessels, as the barge has a capacity of 7000 barrels and is large enough to care for the needs of practically all freight vessels calling at the local port.

Another asset for Los Angeles Harbor is seen in the announcement by Chief Engineer Kronin of the company's intention of constructing a 2,000-ton tank steamer for service between the harbor and San Francisco, which will be the largest of her type in the world. Plans for the vessel are now being drawn, Mr. Kronin said.

PORT NOTES. For the purpose of preparing the construction details of the Honolulu route, the Los Angeles Steamship Company will inaugurate the coming spring with the company's new steamer, the S. S. No. 1, which will be stationed permanently at the local port and used for handling of cargo, or while loading or unloading at the various wharves. This will prove a big factor in the saving of time for the vessels, as the barge has a capacity of 7000 barrels and is large enough to care for the needs of practically all freight vessels calling at the local port.

Mr. Kennedy's company provides a fine service between the different islands of the Hawaiian group, including the island of Hawaii, on which Kilauea, the largest continuing active volcano in the world, is situated. This crater is a most attractive point of interest to tourists. It is located on the rim of Hilo, 152 miles from Honolulu.

Other passengers on the Yale included W. T. Hoover, Pacific Coast manager for the Detroit Graphite Company; Capt. L. D. Waters, the marine surveyor, who is returning to Los Angeles after a business trip to San Francisco; A. C. Presley, Pacific Coast manager for the John B. Stearns Association; and B. Parker, a prominent San Francisco merchant who is following the popular idea of bringing his wife and children to California for their honeymoon trip the Yale and Harvard way.

CUT IN SHIPPING WAGES ANNOUNCED. REDUCTION OF OVER 15 PER CENT AGREED TO BY MARINE ORGANIZATIONS.

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Reductions in the wage scales of officers and men in Shipping Board vessels amounting to more than 15 per cent and effective February 6, were announced today by the board.

The new scale, which will run until next June 30, amounts to a cut of 15 per cent for deck officers, and of 15 per cent for the unlicensed personnel, including seamen and deckhands.

Heads of the union affected by the wage cut are said by Shipping Board officials to have given their assent to the new pay scale.

Decision as to reduction of the wage scale was reached by representatives of the Shipping Board after a week's conference with all interested parties, including marine organizations. The conference ended today.

Marine organizations heard by the board included the Masters, Mate and Pilot's Association, the Neptune Association, the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association and the National United Radio Telegraphers Association.

All, it was said, had agreed to the wage cut.

COUNCIL BANS LYON PAVING.

Majority Owners' Protest Wins Their Fight.

Precedent Established by City for Such Cases.

Gas Company May Act for Self, Says Crisswell.

The battle to place the present City Council definitely on record as protecting the rights of majority property owners from having unnecessary street improvements ordered over their protests was won yesterday, when the City Council by a divided vote sustained a majority protest filed against the proposed paving of Lyon street in the Plaza terminal district. The Los Angeles Gas & Electric Corporation filed a petition under the Act of 1911, which gives the Council the right to over-ride majority protests, for the paving of Lyon street, which is a "stub-end" street 500 feet long, connecting with Macy street and serving the Wilson Packing Company's plant located at the end of Lyon street.

The Los Angeles Gas & Electric Corporation's plant at the corner of Lyon and Macy streets represents only a minority frontage on the street which the company asked to have paved at a cost of nearly $12,000.

OTHERS PROTEST.
The Industrial Development and Land Company, which owns a majority frontage, in its protest stated that the present paving would adequately serve the traffic on the street and also pointed out that the proposed union railroad terminal at the Plaza would change the entire layout of the district and spur tracks to serve industries and warehouses in that section would make necessary the tearing out of street pavement.

President Crisswell led the attack on the Lyon street proceedings, saying "The Act of 1911 was designed to permit the City Council in emergencies and where the public interest requires the linking of almost improved streets, to order paving over majority protests. Lyon street is not a case of this kind. If the gas company wants to pave the side of the street under private contract and pay for it, I can see no objection to it."

ABUSE ASSERTED.
Councilman Conaway, who has opposed the paving of Lyon street as unnecessary and who has opposed the proceedings as a misuse of the Act of 1911, also spoke in favor of the protest of the majority property owners. Councilmen Langdon, Mallard, Mushet, Sparks and Wheeler (5) opposed to paving the street. President Crisswell and Councilman Allan Conaway, and Senator (4) Eight votes were required, under the provision of the Act of 1911, to deny the majority owner's protest and to order the street paved. Had the proceedings been brought, as is usual in such cases, under the provisions of the Vrooman Act, the majority protest would have automatically stopped the proposed paving of the street. The action taken yesterday by the City Council has the effect of abandoning the proceedings for the paving of Lyon street.

JAIL TERMS ARE GIVEN SPEEDERS.

Heavy Sentence Is Driven for Reckless Driving of Truck; Others Punished.

Four jail sentences were given autists yesterday in the county speeder court by Justice Baird. Fines aggregating $1945 were imposed for various violations of the State Motor Vehicle Act.

L. W. Singer, a truck driver of 170 East Jefferson street, was given the heaviest sentence. He drew twenty-five days in the County Jail and was fined $150 for driving at the rate of forty-five miles an hour in Coyote Pass and forty miles at another time, and for having an unassigned registration certificate. Motorcycle Officer Cantner told the court that he was challenged to a duel by Singer, who acted in such a manner that he blocked traffic on the road.

R. W. Gordon was fined $100 and sent to jail for five days for going thirty-two miles an hour on Alameda street and having no chauffeur's license.

It was stated by the court that hereafter jail sentences will be given for flagrant violations of the traffic laws.

Police Judge Chesebro yesterday sent three men to jail without the alternative of a fine for violation of the automobile laws. H. A. Shaffer, arrested by Policemen Swearingin and T. Ogimachi, by Policemen Hartmeyer, were sentenced to thirty days for reckless driving. W. L. Brophy was sentenced to five days for speeding. Policemen Hess told the judge Brophy was driving forty-two miles an hour.

PLASTERS MUD ON HOLLYWOOD

Omaha and Jersey City drift west to grow up with the country. They arrive in Los Angeles in an ecstatic frame of mind, thinking lofty thoughts, ambitious and far-reaching. And just about then something or other happens to their "medulla oblongata"—(the spelling is "Carthage"—something and the complex epidemic gets in its deadly work and the demure maidens and the upright men are transformed into actors and actresses. The idea of the final depths of degradation would seem to be an actor or actress and morality gets a strong-arm jolt.

"The story then goes on to relate a list of the love murders of the abandoned Hollywood and its 'suburb,' Los Angeles.

It tells the case of Mrs. Oberchain, who, the Hearst paper says, was "perfectly normal" in Chicago; but when she got to Los Angeles, Oh! If she twenty-four hours murdered her husband in twenty-four months, etc., etc.

APPROVE LARGE SUM FOR POWER.

ing plants of the company on Big Creek, Mr. Miller explained, consist of three large water power plants with a total installed capacity of 144,000 horse power. This is a little more than 10 per cent of the ultimate possible development on this river. This new plant will use the water power being developed by the company as needed in the territory served.

Plans in 1923 Big Creek power plant No. 3, which will have an initial installed capacity of 65,000 horse power, will be completed. The new plant will use the water from San Joaquin River and Big Creek, through a total fall of 155 feet. Water will be diverted from the main river by a dam 125 feet in height, and conducted to the plant through a tunnel 30,000 feet in length. With the completion of this plant the water from Huntington Lake will be used through four plants in series under a total aggregate of 5574 feet. Final plans for this power-house call for six generating units and a total capacity of 200,000 horse power.

Work on the Florence Lake tunnel, which will have a fall of 100 feet and contain 10 miles of tunnel, will be started. This tunnel will divert the waters from the south fork of the San Joaquin River through the mountain range into Huntington Lake. Construction on this tunnel was started in 1920, and is planned for completion in 1926.

In the ultimate development of all the power available at Big Creek there will be required six sets of 210,000-volt transmission lines. By adopting this new system, a total ultimate saving in transmission-line investment of $20,000,000 will be effected.
